AREA HIGH SCHOOL STUDENTS AND THEIR PARENTS GET A LEG UP ON THE COLLEGE ADMISSIONS PROCESS

Omaha, NE, January 17, 2006 – To help students and parents successfully navigate the college admissions process, the University of Nebraska Omaha Division of Academic and Student Affairs and Kaplan Test Prep and Admissions, are again holding College Prep Day. This event is free of charge and open to area students and parents.

During College Prep Day, parents will have the opportunity to learn about all aspects of college admissions through four 50-minute workshops. Topics will include: financial aid and scholarships, college application procedures, writing personal statements and planning for college while in high school. These workshops will also be available in Spanish. While parents are attending workshops, students will have the opportunity to take a full-length practice ACT or SAT under test-like conditions. They will receive their scores and computer assisted feedback the following week to help them craft their future preparation plans.

"With more students vying for limited seats and financial aid and scholarship dollars becoming tight, applying to college can feel overwhelming," said Rolee Kelly, Area Director for KPTA. "UNO and Kaplan are pleased to ease parents' and students' concerns and give them a leg up in the admissions process by sharing what we've learned from years of helping students get into college."

Pre-registration for this FREE event is recommended, as seating is limited. For more information or to register, go to www.kaptest.com/enroll or call 1-800-KAP-TEST (1-800-527-8378).
