ADMINISTRATOR'S COMMENTS

Blessings! Sunshine is streaming through the office windows. I have not heard of another school system taking a golf day instead of a snow day, so rather than set a new trend, I guess we will stay in school. I would like to remind you about the meeting on Thursday night if you are interested in getting introduced to Sycamore Education. We will meet in Mr. Wollman's room (room 307), and I will show you what you can do on the web site. Be sure that you have your username and password with you so that you can get on the site. We think that this will be a valuable tool in maintaining communication between school and home. News and Notes and other bits of information will be posted on the site. The school calendar is there, and of course information about how your student is doing in school. The site also offers an efficient and expedient way to communicate between school and family, or between school families. We are hoping that the majority of our school families will become comfortable with this site and use it everyday. If you would like some help getting to that comfort zone, I'll see you on Thursday at 7:00.

THOMAS NELSON BOOK FAIR

We experienced a few back orders for the book fair and if you have not received any portion of your order, please contact Connie Henkenius at 478-5104. We appreciate your patience with this matter. Thank you for your support of our library.

MS SCIENCE FAIR

Friday, January 20, 7:00 PM

Come and see the work of our young scientists. Information you will gain is: Find out if the new Tide-on-the-Go really works, which chocolate chip cookie tastes best, how long you can keep milk after the expiration date, how accurate are the local weather forecasters, which paper towel is the strongest, which paint covers permanent marker best, is ethanol cost effective?
